
Howdy kiddies!

Posted by Slim - 2007/10/22 16:58

Hello from the south coast!! I bet you thought that i had deserted you all and was so busy on the water that my hands were too tired to type :dry: wrong. since moving ten minutes from the beach, it has been torrid down here, warm and sunny sure but the wind is shite so for I have clocked up 4 good sessions since August!!! What has it been like back up north? It does not help that we cant get online at home and I am not allowed to access the internet at all at work (FACISTS!) so never know what the weather is doing!!

Howpe you are all well and getting out more than I am!!

Having said that, there are some awesome locations in devon, Bigbury has yet to deliver for me but looks awesome and Thurlestone is good as is Exmouth.... expect reviews when I can get regular access to both water and the web.

Take care Y'all!!

B)

Re:Howdy kiddies!

Posted by Shawn - 2007/10/23 09:28

Slim!! Me old chum!!

Most excellent to hear from you!

You'll be pleased to hear that I've not been out much more than you! It has been a bit fickle up here too. I know some people have had quite a few 'surprise' sessions at kirby, but i'm not one of 'em.. doh.

Have you decorated the spare bedroom yet - me & the mrs could just do with a holiday in Devon ;)

Re:Howdy kiddies!

Posted by TwoFish - 2007/10/23 13:15

Hi Slim.

Fairly pants recently here (over a month since decent weekend wind), and heading North for the PWA on Tiree didn't work as the conditions were pants there too. Looks like we may get wind at the weekend though.

Let us know what Bigbury's like. The trouble with most reports from the South Coast is that two foot waves seem 'epic' to them.

Re:Howdy kiddies!

Posted by Shawn - 2007/10/24 15:20

Slim

If you want I can do a screen dump from assorted forecasts for your area each week & email them to you? Would that help?

I don't know yer email address tho'

Re:Howdy kiddies!

Posted by Slim - 2007/10/24 18:26

Cheers for the offer mate, situation is now rectified as I just decided to bite the bullet and bought a shiny new laptop that actually works!!! So now I can get decent forecasts, the shitty thing is I cant get out on saturday, got to go to my god daughters christening or some such nonsense.....:evil:

Do have a spare room though!!! (in 16th century little cottage!):evil:

