

---

National Windsurfing Week

Posted by phill104 - 2007/12/15 19:30

---

Hi all,

Take a look at this site. <http://www.nationalwindsurfingweek.org/>

Then ask yourself/friends if there is anything you can do that week to help promote our sport.

If you can offer any help or run an event please contact the team via the website.

Let's hope 2008 is a windy one.

=====

Re:National Windsurfing Week

Posted by sockgoblin - 2007/12/15 23:04

---

is this an advertisement?

=====

Re:National Windsurfing Week

Posted by TwoFish - 2007/12/16 15:44

---

sockgoblin wrote:

is this an advertisement?

Well I suppose it is, sort of, but not for commercial gain*. Phill is a decent chap and he and a few others have put a lot of effort into getting the initiative off the ground. There's a very long thread on the idea the Boards mag forum if you want to check its bona fides.

It sounds an excellent idea to me.

* though they are selling t-shirts and stuff to raise funds for the cause.

=====

Re:National Windsurfing Week

Posted by phill104 - 2007/12/16 17:47

---

Thanks TwoFish.

You can read about the launch on Boardseeker, Boards mag news and Windsurf mag. We launched at the Earls Court board show where Bryony Shaw got up on stage and did an excellent speech.

It's all about getting more people on the water. There is no commercial interest from the group involved. Everyone has spent their own time and money getting this off the ground. The tee shirt sales are just to cover the costs of letters, banners and advertising etc but sales so far come nowhere near close.

If you think you can get your local club or group involved it would be fantastic. There are many events planned for the week but so far it is very south coast biased. Let's try and get some momentum going north of the watford gap.

=====

Re:National Windsurfing Week

Posted by sockgoblin - 2007/12/17 21:42

---

cheers phil

soz for the cynicism but we sometimes get lots of spam on the site

You have my support

---

Re:National Windsurfing Week

Posted by phill104 - 2007/12/18 08:32

---

Spam... The bane of all our lives. I fully understand.

Take a look at our facebook bit and you'll see by the member list the kind of support we are getting. And please feel free to join in.

<http://www.facebook.com/wall.php?id=2253459234>

If you lot can think of anything you can do to promote the sport that week we will help advertise it. We are starting to get lots of offers of help etc so if you come up with an event maybe we can help.

---

Re:National Windsurfing Week

Posted by TwoFish - 2007/12/19 13:09

---

phill104 wrote:

Take a look at our facebook bit and you'll see by the member list the kind of support we are getting. And please feel free to join in.

<http://www.facebook.com/wall.php?id=2253459234>

Err, maybe it's just me, but when I click that link, I get the 'Top Gear Appreciation Wall'. It does include a picture of a pretty girl in red underwear, so I'm not necessarily complaining, but I'm not sure it's the destination intended.

In the words of Google did you mean <http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=5494214843>

---

Re:National Windsurfing Week

Posted by phill104 - 2007/12/19 20:42

---

Cheers TwoFish, I owe you a beer.

---

Re:National Windsurfing Week

Posted by phill104 - 2008/01/08 16:14

---

We are now being supported by the RYA as you can see here.

<http://www.rya.org.uk/NewsAndEvents/newsroom/news/ryaonboardwithnationalwindsurfingweek.htm>

So get your thinking caps on and come up with some events that you can do in your region. Speak to your local shops etc and let's make this thing work.

---