Is it just me, or has the Hilbre Island realtime weather broken down?? It has been showing 15 kts every time I have looked at it in the last few days and it seems to think it is 10.50 am on 26/11/04.

They have been upgrading and moving their servers over the last few days.

I suspect the fact that something is now being reported online suggests they are not far from having everything up an working again - although it is poor form to bring up incorrect info - they should have got it right and gone 'live' later , but accurate.
