
New Toys wanted

Posted by SpeedMonkey - 2005/03/16 23:05

Ok,

If having 2 weeks off isn't stressful enough (No really - long and complex story but I actually wish I was work!!)

Imagine the scene - It the first day on the water since New years day - I have a lift to carsington - all systems go.....

No F*^%&^G B"!$Y P*&%!(G AEing wind - and it was raining!! I had left my 11m at home due to transportation difficulties.

Needless to say there was a large mard, sorry to the people who witnessed it - I have seen 10mph sunny and 15oC on Sunday in Carsington so here's hoping!!

Hope people have better hunting than i did over the next few days!!

=====

New Toys wanted

Posted by SpeedMonkey - 2005/03/16 23:13

PS

Only just noticed what my new forum status is!!

Glad to see my contriubution to the site is going un-noticed!

PS Suze:

Got to my acc then my info to add a signature

Im thinking

"In a recent poll 9 out of 10 windsurfers prefered Suze!!"

Or for the extravegant one

"Suze - Voted no. 1 iwindurf beach babe!"

Maybe the good people of the site have some sugestions? He he he

Well I have to live up to my forum name!

=====

New Toys wanted

Posted by SUZE - 2005/03/17 09:53

glad you like your new status monkey! you've worked hard for it shall we say.

Thanks for your help on that Bert.

=====

New Toys wanted

Posted by Anonymous - 2005/03/18 15:14

Speed Monkey.....what can you do in 10mph wind?? 25 is the magic number!

=====

New Toys wanted

Posted by SpeedMonkey - 2005/03/18 20:30

Quote:Speed Monkey.....what can you do in 10mph wind?? 25 is the magic number!

Recipe for Sailing in 10 mph: Serves 1 (V happy sailor)

- 1) Take 1 11m 5cam race sail - RS1 will suffice
- 2) Take a 1m wide board and attach the supplied 70cm fin
- 3) Take 3 friends whos only aim sems to be going quicker than you.

Mix for 3-4 hours (preferable on setting sunny and at a temp of 15-25oC)

By the end you should realise that sailing is about being on the water, with your friends in great locations.

If you don't, you've missed something!!

Serious point though - yeah it's great sailing v short boards in stong winds in mast high waves - So people tell me!! But how often does this happen??

I use big kit so I don't miss that many days.

edited by: SpeedMonkey, Mar 18, 2005 - 08:31 PM

=====