hi

i think the next t15 race should be held at west kirby for the high winds and plaining down the wall as it was the best race's last season at west kirby with 20knots nw ish

thnx t15king

Your best bet is to contact the race organisers - check out the T15 website or the clubs section if you know a specific organiser of these events.

On another note - WRITERS WANTED! Having hung up the T15 mantle myself (im know 17) i need the inside view, as well as just some more articles! Budding writers, lets be having ya. Private messages or email georgebergel@hotmail.com

Good stuff - T15 continues to grow. My old man just happens to be the organiser, so your thoughts re using kirby have been passed on!

Regarding reports etc - I'll get him to email in the reports from his side of things for viewing here.

Also, watch this space, there could well be a freestyle event coming targeted at the new generation - windy John is too old for that!

I can also post on here details of how to qualify for the West Zone RYA Windsurfing squad - for those heading towards the front of T15 - this is the place to be. It's likely there'll be qualification event(s) in October time.

Hang loose and have fun!

nice one langbr1117,

we'd love to hear what's going on via the forums and if you want then post event details etc. here too

Much more effective would be our front page - either use the 'submit info' link in the menu and then choose news, or email to me or ernie or shawn or big_k and we'll get you as much suport as we can.

Even better do both

I'll get on the case - I'm sure there's a press release forthcoming, if not I'll at least get the info / key points put through on email!
